What is Cabell’s Directories of Publishing Opportunities?
Cabell’s Directories provides users with information on how to publish in academic journals, listings of academic journals, and where to submit journals. Offering multiple subject-specific directories, Cabell’s helps you determine which journals typically publish manuscripts similar to yours or could be the best fit for your manuscript.

Who needs Cabell’s Directories?
This resource is appropriate for anyone looking to publish their manuscript in an academic journal.

Use Cabell’s Directories to…
• Find the rate of acceptance of manuscripts.
• Determine what kind of review process a journal uses (i.e. blind review, editorial review, etc.).
• Assist you in organizing and preparing your manuscripts.

Coverage
• Currently over 250 calls for papers covering various topics
• Approximately 5,500 journals represented
• 11 sub-directories offered in Business, Education, Psychology, Computer Science, and Health.

How to access Cabell’s Directories in the University Library:
On the library's homepage, select View All Resources Alphabetically and click on Cabell’s Directories
To get started in Cabell's choose one of the following options:

1. Search ‘Calls for Papers’: Browse through all journals with current calls for papers.
2. List of All Journals in Our Directories: Search for a specific journal title.
3. Directories: Select a directory that best fits your manuscript.

For assistance with any of the University Library's Resources:

Ask a Librarian: Located on the Library's homepage under the Services menu.

PhoenixConnect: Post a question or comment on the University Library's Research Help community.

E-mail: library@phoenix.edu

Faculty Feedback: http://universitylibrary.altarama.com/reft100.aspx?key=FacultyWebsite